

Abstract

Methods and related immunoglobulin peptides and fragments thereof are disclosed that enhance the cell-mediated immune response of a patient to deposits of amyloid fibrils. 5 These methods exploit the opsonizing effect of antibodies directed toward amyloid material or its component parts.